

Photographer Ralph Preston

The striking landscape images on the Mountain Landscapes Initiative website, plus key video interviews, are the work of veteran professional photographer Ralph Preston, who lives in the Cowee Valley of North Macon County.

Ralph's photos of the region's rivers and working farmland, of its forests and meadows, have delighted long-time residents and visitors alike. His work ranks with the best of national photographers drawn to the beauty of the North Carolina mountains in all its seasons.

A long-time advocate of responsible planning, Ralph has opened his archives to the Mountain Landscape Initiative and has generously provided his professional services at a fraction of his usual fees.

For more about Ralph and his work, visit here: www.ralphpreston.com.

